Scammers and Scoundrels

Notable events such as the Kentucky Derby tend to attract individuals and groups who travel around in order to scam people out of their money. Be extra vigilant of this type of activity. Anyone who approaches you with an extraordinarily “sad story” in order to gain “gas money” or any other plea for monetary assistance should be handled with suspicion. It would be better if you call the police department so that we can assess the validity of their claims, and provide assistance if necessary.

Also, if you attend Derby events, be aware of your valuables at all times. The incidence of thefts by pick pocketing increase during these times. Be observative, and aware of your personal safety.
